A STORY FROM THE FIELD

At the end of a fruitful day of ministry, we pulled into our last village of the day. Our team broke up into two groups to invite the villagers to our Gospel presentation, and then we gathered at our meeting area. As with other villages, the plastic lounge chairs instantly appeared. We were asked to sit down and rest. While the rest of the village gathered, the crowd began to ask questions: who were we, where were we from, what were our names, our ages. It felt like a TV interview with our team as the guests. The village was Tribal Hindu. As Bea stood up to give the Gospel presentation, the group applauded to extend their welcome. Bea proceeded to tell the story of her encounter with Jesus Christ and how she came to saving faith in Christ. At the conclusion, the crowd applauded. Jamie stood up to share the cube and was welcomed with applause. When he arrived to the part of Jesus' resurrection from the dead, the crowd burst out in applause, beaming in smiles. Nicole completed the Gospel presentation and was again met with a resounding applause. When Mallory stood up to extend the offer of salvation, the whole village raised their hands in a decision to follow Christ! It was so beautiful to see sad, dejected and tired faces transformed into hopeful, smiling faces! Nicole got to wrap up our Gospel presentation with the bracelets, which was met with another round of applause. What a wonderful time of fellowship and prayer with our new brothers and sisters in Christ who heard the Gospel for the first time in their lives and overwhelmingly received the gift of new life in Christ and life everlasting!
